Advance Bidding Facility

Our easy to use advance bidding facility, which replaces the traditional commission bid system, provides bidders with total control over their bids right up to the point that the lot is offered for sale.

Bids made online cannot be seen by others and do not go live until the actual moment that the lot in question is being offered for sale. All bids can be easily altered or cancelled by the bidder prior to this point. An automated email will be sent confirming all bids and alterations.

Anyone with a valid email address can easily register to bid online.

There is no additional charge for online bidding and it is not necessary to pre-register a payment card in order to do so.

It is recommended that all bidders execute their own bids either prior to the sale by using our online advance bidding facility or live as the auction is taking place.

Whilst we are still happy to execute all bids submitted in writing or by phone, fax, etc., it should be noted that all bids left with us will be entered at our offices using the same bidding facility to which all our clients now have access. There is, therefore, no better way of ensuring the accuracy of your advance bids than to place them yourself online.

Fred Rockwood

Frederick W. Rockwood passed away March 3, 2014 at his home in Batesville, Indiana after a long illness. He will be fondly remembered as an avid collector, meticulous researcher, and true friend of the hobby. His knowledge of military history, medals, and militaria was frequently sought by collecting friends around the world. An early and sustained interest in stamps led Fred into coins and finally to orders, decorations, and medals where he collected worldwide. He was a partner in FJP Auctions, Inc., a strong supporter of the OMSA, and the Ohio Valley Military Society (OVMS).

Fred was a Salt Lake City born, Stanford University undergrad, Harvard law Renaissance man, with varied interests in many different fields of learning. He had an extraordinarily eclectic library, all of which he could instantly recall. He loved languages and spoke many of them fluently, including Chinese (both Mandarin and Cantonese) and German. Fred held many Church leadership positions, was President and CEO of a Fortune 500 Company, served on the Boy Scouts of America Cincinnati Council board of directors, and supported all forms of the arts.

Every travel opportunity for Fred led to a favourite book store. Once, after an overnight flight to London, he could not check in at the hotel because the room wasn't ready. Thinking there was time to spend an hour searching the stacks and still have time to catch a much needed nap before dinner; Fred made an early afternoon visit to a book store. He was soon in an almost hidden corner of an upstairs room. He found something of interest on a bottom shelf, bent over to pick it up, and then sat down on the floor to take a better look. The next thing he remembered was being awakened by a security guard hours after the store had closed.

Fred Rockwood was a unique individual who will be missed by those who knew him. He is survived by his wife Jolene, six sons and daughters, and eighteen grandchildren.

Only 47 clasps issued for Battle of Deig of which only five were issued as single clasp medals.

Thomas Hughes was born on 2 November 1784 in the Parish of St. Mary's near Dublin. By trade he was a Labourer and he was illiterate. On his 16th birthday he enlisted into His Majesty's 88th Regiment and served with this Regiment in India from 17 July 1801. He was subsequently transferred to H.M. 76th Regiment and he first appears in the musters of that Regiment in October 1804. Private Hughes was present with the 76th at the Battle of Deig on 13 November 1804, but did not take part at the subsequent Capture of Deig in December, as he was then stationed at Agra. However, the musters infer that he did participate at the Siege of Bhurtpoor in January and February 1805, at which the outnumbered British besieging force was severely defeated with very heavy casualties (over 3200 killed and wounded). Hughes was transferred on 25 June 1805 to H.M. 75th Regiment at Futtypore, and on 25 April 1806 he was transferred again (in a volunteer draft) to the 24th Dragoons at Cawnpore for 'unlimited service'. He was promoted to the rank of Corporal in June 1814 and to Sergeant in September 1816. Sergeant Hughes was discharged from the 24th Dragoons on 10 May 1818 in consequence of 'being transferred to the Honourable East India Company's service', having served for 17 years 190 days in the British Army, the latter 16 years 298 days of that time in India. His army service was described as 'good'. Sold with copied discharge papers and muster roll details.

Lewis Wentworth Watson, the son of Thomas Watson, M.D., was born in the Parish of Burwash, Sussex, on 30 November 1790. He was nominated a Cadet on the Madras Establishment by Sir Hugh Inglis, Bart., and granted a commission in the 24th Madras Native Infantry on 3 July 1807. At sunset on 26 November 1817 he was present as a Lieutenant in the 1/24th Madras N.I. on the slopes of the Seetabuldee hills, the crowns of which stood some 400 yards apart. At 5:00 a.m. on the 27th, after nearly eleven hours continuous fighting, Lieutenant-Colonel Hopetoun Scott withdrew the infantry from the slopes of the smaller hill 'in consequence of their great loss and fatigue', and the defence continued from a hastily prepared breastwork of grain bags on the summit. At 8:00 a.m. the position was overrun by an overwhelming force of the Bhonsla's Arab infantry.

The survivors retreated to the main position on top of the larger hill, and it seemed as if the whole force was doomed, but at that point the 6th Light Cavalry, under Captain Charles FitzGerald, entered the contest, and drove off the massing Mahratta cavalry closing in from the west. The success of the cavalry inspired the infantry and Colonel Scott ordered a counter-attack on the smaller hill. After a word of encouragement from the British Resident, Mr Richard Jenkins, Captain William Lloyd led a headlong bayonet charge of the 1/20th and 1/24th, and the Resident's Escort. Watson, whose battalion suffered 149 casualties in the battle, was afterwards noticed in Scott's report dated 'Camp, Nagpore, 30 November 1817' as one of the officers conspicuous in the counter-attack (London Gazette 7 August 1819).

Watson shared in the Nagpore Prize and in early 1818 was appointed Adjutant of the 1/1st Madras N.I. In September of that year he took part in the reduction of the fortresses of Chandah, where he was wounded, and Mundelah, and was duly 'extolled' in General Orders by the Governor-General (London Gazette 7 August 1819). He advanced to the rank of Captain in 1824 and transferred to the 17th Madras N.I., which, in 1836-7, he commanded on field service during hostilities in the Ganjam District. In January 1841, Watson transferred as Lieutenant-Colonel to the 43rd Madras N.I. and in 1845 was appointed to the command of the troops serving in Penang, Singapore and Malacca.

Promoted to Major-General in November 1854, Watson was appointed as Colonel of the 13th Madras N.I. in the same year, and as Colonel of the 17th Madras N.I. in 1859. Major-General Watson, who was twice married, died without issue on 5 May 1859.

Ex Spink, November 1991, and D.N.W. December 2000.

Alexander Duncan was born in Edinburgh in March 1780, the son of Dr. Andrew Duncan, a distinguished Physician, and entered the Honourable East India Company's Forces as a Cadet in 1795. Arriving in India in September 1797, he was promoted to Lieutenant in August 1798 and became Adjutant of the 1/2nd Native Infantry in 1800, in which year he saw service in the Oudh. Next appointed Adjutant of the 2/2nd Native Infantry, he took part in the operations in the Jumna Doab, including the actions at Sasni, Bijaigarh and Kachaura. Promoted to Captain in November 1805 and appointed Brigade Major to the 4th Brigade of the Grand Army, Duncan was extensively engaged in the Second Mahratta War, being present at Allighur, the battle of Delhi, Agra, and the battle of Laswarree. He was also present at the unsuccessful first siege of Bhurtpoor, at which place he was wounded and had his horse killed under him. His next appointment was as Brigade Major at Fatehgarh in 1806, although he saw no further active service until the reduction of Kalinjar in 1812, and the capture of Entauri, in Baghelkhand, in 1813. He subsequently commanded the 1/2nd Native Infantry on service in Oudh during 1815.

On the outbreak of the Third Mahratta War in 1817, he was again appointed to the command of the 1/2nd Native Infantry and served with the Narbada Field Force, being present at the action near Sohagpur on 13 January 1819, when his conduct was brought to the notice of the Governor-General by Sir Richard Jenkins, the Resident at Nagpore. In a letter to the Hon. Mountstuart Elphinstone, dated 19 January 1819, Jenkins states: 'I have much satisfaction in acquainting you, that Major Duncan, with the Right Wing of the 1st Battalion 2nd Bengal Native Infantry, by a well concerted enterprise, succeeded in completely surprising and defeating, on 13th instant, a body of 500 Ginds and Pindaries, under the Chiefs Futteh Sing, Ram Sing and Pertaub Sing. This party was very strongly posted within the hills near Sohagpur, having stockades in their fronts, which were all turned in the night, and the enemy, driven out of the village by the bayonet, fled in all directions, many being killed or drowned in a deep nullah, at the bottom of the mountains. Two villages and the stockades were burnt or destroyed, with large quantities of grain and ammunition' (London Gazette 10 August 1819).

Duncan was given command of the 5th Native Infantry in May 1824, and of the 53rd Native Infantry in January 1828, becoming Colonel in June 1829, having assumed command of the Malwa Field Force a few months earlier. He took command of the Sirhind Division, as Brigadier General on the General Staff, in May 1834 and held this position until May 1839. Having transferred to the 5th Native Infantry in August 1837, Duncan briefly held command of the 2nd Division of the Army of the Indus from September to December 1838. Returning to the U.K. in 1840, he received further promotion to Lieutenant-General in November 1846 and to full General in June 1854. General Duncan died at Gattonside House, Melrose, in May 1859. Sold with full research.

INDIA GENERAL SERVICE 1854-95, 2 clasps, Burma 1885-7, Burma 1887-9 (6152 Pte. W. Taylor, 1/Rif. Bde.) note rare 'Burma 1887-9' clasp, later style naming, good very fine £200-250

William Taylor was born at Newbury, Berkshire, in 1862, and enlisted for the Rifle Brigade at Winchester on 12 September 1883. He served in India from December 1884 to October 1886, in Burma from October 1886 until March 1889, when he returned to India. He remained there until August 1894, when he returned home, and was discharged in the rank of Sergeant on 9 September 1895. Sold with copy discharge papers.

The rare clasp variety 'Burma 1887-9' was officially struck at the Royal Mint, presumably because the original die was no longer usable. The style of naming on the medal suggests that it was issued in the 1890's and is probably a late or duplicate issue.

Lugard's D.S.O. group of medals is held by the National Army Museum, Chelsea. It is accompanied by another I.B.E.A. Company Medal which is named both on the edge (Captain F. D. Lugard, D.S.O., Norfolk Regiment), and in the reverse field (Uganda 1890. 1891. 1892.). Another single medal, similarly named is also known. As these medals were purchased privately by those entitled, it is quite possible that Lugard bought more than one example.

 For services against the Yonnies, who lived in the hinterland of Sierra Leone, the whole under the command of Colonel Sir Francis Walker de Winton. Magor states:
 'The service was described as extremely arduous owing to the density of the forest which had to be traversed and to the continual fusillade which was kept up by the concealed enemy from their muzzle loaders which fired rough bits of iron and small shot. During this campaign the Yonnies showed much skill in devising ambush stockades and in making use of obstacles so as to bring the troops to a standstill under their fire. Robari, the Yonnie stronghold, was eventually reached, shelled, set on fire by rockets and quickly taken. The rebellious chiefs then submitted and the expedition returned to the coast. British casualties were 20 wounded.'

Harding was further promoted to Yeoman of Signals in December 1898 and to Chief Yeoman of Signals in December 1899. Awarded the L.S. & G.C. in June 1888. Discharged to a pension in 1912.

EAST AND WEST AFRICA 1887-1900, 1 clasp, Lake Nyassa 1893 (C. Edney, Lg. Sto. H.M.S. Pioneer) nearly extremely fine and rare £2500-3000

Ex D.N.W. 2 July 2003.

Charles Edney, who was born in Sandport, Hampshire in December 1856, joined the ship's company of the gunboat H.M.S. Pioneer in August 1893, as a Leading Stoker, just in time to participate in the Lake Nyassa operations.

Interestingly, the presence of the Pioneer in such an inhospitable setting echoes the story of the R.N.'s operations on Lake Tanganyika in the Great War, for she, and H.M.S. Adventure, had been sent out in sections from Jarrow-on-Tyne and then hauled over 200 miles of virgin territory before being assembled on the lake's shores.

Magor states of their part in the expedition, following the commencement of operations against the rebel chief Makanjira:

'H.M.S. Pioneer and H.M.S. Adventure then took part in a combined operation against Makanjira's mother, Kalunda, a slave trading chieftainess, who with her warriors was shelled out of her village at Rifu Bay. Makanjira sent a dhow to rescue his mother but this was sunk by the Pioneer.'

Edney subsequently qualified for one of approximately 30 'Lake Nyassa 1893' clasps to the R.N., the military and civilian personnel of the expedition actually being awarded Central Africa Medals. He was pensioned ashore in September 1897. With copied service paper.

EAST AND WEST AFRICA 1887-1900, 1 clasp, Niger 1897 (Lieut. W. T. Barton, Pembroke Arty.) good very fine and very rare £1500-2000

Ex D.N.W. 20 September 2002.

William Thomson Barton was born in about 1863, the elder son of Robert Hyde Barton of Chorley, Lancashire. He was granted a commission as a Supernumerary Second Lieutenant in the 1st Banff Artillery Volunteers, R.G.A., on 15 October 1887. By the close of 1888 he had gained his certificate of proficiency, leading to his promotion to Lieutenant on 15 December 1888. Barton was promoted Captain on 8 February 1890, and by December 1891, he had passed a School of Instruction for higher rank than that which he held.

In June 1893, Barton was transferred to the Militia, and was appointed a Lieutenant in the Forfar and Kincardine Artillery, R.G.A., based at Montrose. Just over a year later he moved again when, on 19 September 1894, he was appointed a Lieutenant in the Pembroke Artillery, R.G.A., and subsequently qualified as an Instructor of Artillery and of Musketry.

On 11 March 1896, Barton was seconded whilst employed with the Royal Niger Company, and took part in the expeditions during January and February 1897 for which he was awarded the medal and clasp for Niger 1897. Lieutenant W. T. Barton died at Asaba in the Royal Niger Company's territories on 31 December 1897, as reported 'by cable' in The Times of 15 January 1898.

The clasp for Niger 1897 was awarded to just 24 British officers and 7 British N. C.O's, attached or seconded to the Royal Niger Company. A further 15 British civilian employees of the R.N.C., including four medical officers and an Officiating Quarter-Master, also received this medal and clasp, as did approximately 650 natives of the Royal Niger Constabulary.

INDIA GENERAL SERVICE 1895-1902, 1 clasp, Defence of Chitral 1895 (907 Sepoy Mool Singh, 4th Kashmir Infy. I.S.T.) minor edge bruise and possible official correction to last part of unit, nearly extremely fine and rare £2500-3000

Ex B.D.W. 27 September 1994.

907 Sepoy Mool Singh, 4th (Raghunath) Regiment of Kashmir Light Infantry, Imperial Service Troops, was killed in action (gunshot) at Chitral Fort on 17 April 1895. On this day occurred an episode that particularly stands out amongst the numerous gallant actions fought by the men during the siege. The Chitralis were discovered constructing a mine by which means they were perilously close to breaching the fort with explosives, which event would have been disastrous for those inside the fort itself. Consequently a 'forlorn hope' was organised under Lieutenant Hurley with 40 men of the 14th Sikhs and 60 men of the Kashmir Infantry, with the object of destroying the mine. The party was let out of the Garden Gate of the fort just opposite the 'Summer House' at 4 p.m.

30 Pathans in the house were taken completely by surprise and after firing a few random shots they bolted down the garden wall. Two men of the Raghunath were killed in this initial attack. Work on the demolition of the mine was then started immediately while some of the Raghunaths and the Sikhs engaged the Pathans who had not withdrawn any farther than the end of the garden and were from there keeping up a continuously heavy fire on the 'Summer House'. The mine shaft was found outside the house behind the garden wall and 35 Chitralis were bayoneted in the mouth of the mine just as they rushed out in panic. Lieutenant Hurley succeeded in placing the charges and soon after 5 p.m. the mine was blown up and the fort saved in the nick of time. A total of 8 men were killed and 13 wounded in this short and daring action of which the share of the Kashmir Infantry was 5 killed, including Mool Singh, and 8 wounded.

Ex Brian Ritchie Collection, September 2004.

The true origins of this scarce medal are unknown but it would appear that about 100 were struck in error by Wyon and sent out to India in 1859. They are known to have been issued to all three presidencies but the mistake was only discovered the following year by the Government of Bombay, by which time they had probably all been issued.

In 1873, in response to an India Office request to explain the 'difference in design of the Medals for "Long Service and Good Conduct" and "Meritorious Service," supplied to this Office, and those supplied to the War Office,' Mr Wyon replied as requested but added 'There is also a Naval Long Service Medal but it has probably never been used.'

A rare Rhodesian Pioneer's campaign pair awarded to Trooper H. A. Arnold, British South Africa Company's Police, afterwards Army Service Corps

BRITISH SOUTH AFRICA COMPANY MEDAL 1890-97, reverse undated, 1 clasp, Mashonaland 1890 (Tpr. Arnold, H. A., B.S.A.C. P.); QUEEN'S SOUTH AFRICA 1899-1902, 5 clasps, Cape Colony, Orange Free State, Transvaal, South Africa 1901, South Africa 1902 (241 Mr. H. Arnold, A.S.C.), edge bruising, and the first with obverse surface scratch, otherwise generally very fine (2) £2000-2500

Howard Augustus Arnold was born at North Curry, Somerset, in January 1866, the son of a sea captain who sailed between England and America. Owing to his father having broken his neck in a hunting accident, he was raised by his grandfather, a strict Wesleyan Minister, an unhappy experience that prompted him to run away and join the Royal Navy as a boy rating. Much of his subsequent service was spent on the Mediterranean Station, including a long spell at Gibraltar, but in 1889 he left for South Africa, bearing a letter of introduction from Sir Alexander Moncrieff to Colonel Sir Frederick Carrington, C.O. of the Bechuanaland Border Police.

One of the earliest entrants to the Company's Police, joining at Kimberley, he was not actually attested until reaching Taungs in December 1889. Subsequently sent to Mafeking in a party of police under Sergeant R. Bary, he served in 'B' Troop of the Pioneer Column and was present at Fort Salisbury for the occupation ceremony on 13 September 1890. Of his subsequent services in the period 1890-91, Hickman's Men Who Made Rhodesia states:

'In November, 1890, he was sent with a dispatch to recall Capt. P. W. Forbes, who, after the arrest of Col. Paiva D'Andrade and Gouveia, on 15/11/1890, had entered Mozambique with the intention of pushing on to the coast. On the second night of Arnold's ride he was suffering from malaria, decided that he therefore could not off-saddle his horse and rest, and so rode on. The horse wandered in a circle and Arnold found himself at the same Mashona burial-ground on a hilltop from which he had set out the previous evening. After two further days in the saddle his horse fell dead. It is not clear whether Arnold himself delivered the dispatch to Forbes, or whether it was carried on by another man; Arnold certainly got as far as Macequece.

On St. Patrick's Day, 17/3/1891, though an Englishman, he participated in the Irish banquet organised by No. 1 Troop Sgt.-Major F. K. W. Lyons-Montgomery and presided over by Dr. J. Croghan.

About the end of March, 1891, he was sent in charge of three other troopers to establish a post-station at Mangwenda's (Mangwendi) between Marandellas and Makoni's as a link in the dispatch-riding system between Fort Salisbury and Umtali. Here he suffered acutely from malaria and all the horses died. He was relieved by No. 2 L./Cpl. R. A. L. Smith and three other troopers, and started to return to Fort Salisbury with carriers. They suffered from lack of food and clothing, and by this time Arnold was barefoot. But at Marandellas Sub-Lieut. the Hon. Eustace Fiennes helped to equip the party to the best of his means, and sent them on to Salisbury by wagon. But they had little respite as they were recalled to Umtali to reinforce Capt. H. M. Heyman, though by the time they arrived the fight with the Portuguese on 11/5/1891 was over. The contingent therefore remained at Umtali for some months and helped to build the fort. They were there when Sister Rose Blenner-Hassett and her companions came through on foot from the east coast in July, 1891.

Arnold reports that about this time there was trouble amongst A Troop men, who refused duty because of their lack of rations and clothes, and were later allowed to take their discharge. The B Troop party returned to Salisbury in September, 1891, and Arnold was transferred to C Troop in October, taking his discharge from that troop on 16/11/1891; it is signed by Lieut.-Col. E. G. Pennefather.

He, with others, then travelled south with Col. Ignatius Ferreira as far as Fort Tuli, and then on by wagon to Vryburg, then the railhead, and so on by train. At Capetown Arnold, on the recommendation of Cecil Rhodes, obtained a position on the mines at Kimberley; later he went to the Rand.'

On the outbreak of the Boer War, he joined the Army Service Corps at East London, and served throughout the conflict, Hickman crediting him with a King's Medal & two clasps, rather than the Queen's medal with five. Be that as it may, Arnold settled in Johannesburg after the war, where he became a cyanide manager in the mining industry for 12 years. He then started an estate business from which he retired in the late 1930s. Present in Salisbury for the Occupation Day celebrations in 1930, when he wrote some notes on his earlier service, he was made a Freeman of the city in 1935 and, by 1960, when Hickman published his history, was 92 years old and living with his grandson in Durban - 'still hale and hearty bodily, but beginning to realise his age through his kind.'

John Rolt entered the 58th Foot as an Ensign on 1 March 1800 and was promoted to Lieutenant in June 1801. He accompanied the 58th in the campaign to eject the French from Egypt by means of a Turkish assault from the Sinai, an attack by a British force from India and a landing, by a third force under Sir Ralph Abercromby, on the Mediterranean shore. This latter force assembled at Malta, where the 58th found themselves part of a large Brigade, known as the Reserve, under Sir John Moore. After six weeks practising beach landings on the Turkish coast, the invasion fleet arrived off Aboukir Bay on 1 March 1801. In the small hours of the 8th, all the landing craft were filled and quietly rowed to an off-shore rendezvous. At 8 a.m. the boats, each carrying fifty men, pulled for the shore, covered by two gunboats. As the range closed, French gunners opened fire, throwing up columns of water drenching the men, while the French infantry poured volleys into the boats. On landing, Moore's Reserve and the Guards Brigade formed up by battalions and advanced up the beach despite the inferno. The 42nd Highlanders, finding themselves under cavalry attack, were saved by the fusillades of the 58th. Both regiments then advanced up the beach to clear their front. While still forming, the Guards, to their left, were also assailed by French horse, but the 58th were at hand and checked the enemy, allowing the Guards, to form a front and help repulse the horsemen. Within two hours, after some further skirmishing among the dunes, the beachhead was secured. The 58th had lost ten killed and forty-seven wounded including Rolt who had been 'shot through the body.' He was granted the Gold Medal from the Grand Seigneur for his services in Egypt.

Between 1802 and 1804 he served with his regiment in Ireland. In 1805, he returned to the Mediterranean with the 1/58th and accompanied the expedition to Naples. Having been promoted Captain on 5 September, he joined the 2/58th in Jersey the following year, where he remained until 1809 when the battalion left for the Peninsular. In February 1810, he was appointed Major in the 13th Line Regiment in the Portuguese service and was present at the battle of Busaco, covering the operations against Ciudad Rodrigo and capture of Badajoz. Rolt commanded the 17th Portuguese Regiment from April 1812 until the end of the war, including actions of Berlanza and near Las Casas, battle of Vittoria, actions in the Pyrenees at Santa Barbara, 2nd August, and attack of Vera heights, 7th October, battle of the Nivelles, battle and operations of the Nive, 9th-13th December, 1813, battles of Orthes and Toulouse. Rolt was honourably mentioned in the despatches of Marshal Beresford for his services at the Nive. From the period of landing in the Peninsula in 1809, until the conclusion of hostilities in April 1814, he was never one day absent from his duty.

For his war services he was made a Companion of the Bath in June 1815, and, in the following year was granted Royal Licence to accept the insignia of a Knight of the Tower and Sword 'as a testimony of the high sense which His Majesty the King of Portugal entertains of the great courage and intrepidity displayed by him in several actions in the Peninsula'. It is also noteworthy that he appears to be one of less than ten men entitled to both the Gold Cross and the Egypt clasp to the Peninsula War Medal.

In 1823, Rolt became the commanding officer of the 2nd (Queen's) Regiment, following an inspection of the regiment, by Major-General Sir Henry Torrens, which proved a disaster for the then commanding officer, Lieutenant-Colonel Jordan. Two years later he departed for a staff appointment and then retired from active service. In 1837, he was made a Knight of Hanover and in 1848 he became a KCB. On the death of Lord Saltoun, in 1853, Sir John accepted the Colonelcy of the 2nd Queen's. He received his final promotion to Lieutenant-General in June 1854 and died at East Southernhay, near Exeter, on 8 November, 1856.

Lieutenant-Colonel Conway was Adjutant General of the Army at the Battle of Maheidpore and was mentioned in General Orders of Lieutenant-General Sir Thomas Hislop, dated Headquarters of the Army of the Deccan, Camp at Maheidpore, December 22nd, 1817, 'his important services during the action fought yesterday, can never be effaced from his [Hislop's] memory.'

Conway was again mentioned in General Orders by Sir Thomas Hislop after the operations against the fort at Talneir, 27 February 1818, 'The conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel Conway, Adjutant-General of the Army, and the increasing and energetic display of that officer's personal courage and able arrangements throughout the day, were such as his Excellency well knew, from former experience, that he should derive the greatest benefit from. Sir Thomas Hislop begs the Lieutenant-Colonel to accept of his warmest thanks for the great aid he has on the present occasion had from him.' At this action, the Killadar of Talneir surrendered in person to Lieutenant-Colonel Conway, but it transpired to be an act of treachery by the Killadar, whose Arabs then opened a murderous fire on the gallant band of troops who had gained entry into the fort. These Arabs were put to the sword without delay and the Killadar was hanged from one of the bastions as soon as the place fell.

Thomas Henry Somerset Conway was appointed Cornet, 2nd Regiment Light Cavalry, Madras Presidency, in 1798; Lieutenant, 4 September 1799; Captain, 27 January 1810; Major, 18 October 1818; Lieut.-Colonel, 5 March 1826; Brevet Colonel, 18 June 1831. He died of cholera at Nackry Kul on 13 May 1837.

'Where all ranks displayed such courage and devotion it is hard to particularise individuals; Private Asbury, D Company, Staffordshire, was wounded in the side before reaching the bottom of the hill, and received a second wound in the leg, when on the top; though suffering from great pain, he continued firing steadily and well.'

He was entitled to the Egypt & Sudan Medal 1882-89, dated reverse, with clasps for 'The Nile 1884-85' and 'Kirbekan' (the official roll refers).

x 684 A Boer War D.C.M. awarded to Corporal W. Frances, Imperial Light Horse, who was killed in action at Maritzani on 13 May 1900 during the relief of Mafeking operations

D.C.M. London Gazette 27 September 1901; submitted to the King on 3 August 1901

In common with his brother, Walter Frances (or Francis) is described as being a noted lion hunter in The History of the Imperial Light Horse, the pair of them being 'particularly at home' in fighting rifle duels with the enemy. Walter, who was mentioned in Buller's despatch dated 30 March 1900, was killed in action a few weeks later at Maritzani, when the Potchefstroom Commando attacked a British column in force. The regimental history takes up the story:

'B, E and F Squadrons, protecting the right flank, were more sharply engaged. The bush afforded the enemy excellent cover. Firing took place at close range, and assumed the nature of a large number of personal duels. The I.L.H., skilled at this type of fighting, though outnumbered, never yielded an inch. The fight lasted about three-quarters of an hour, and when the very efficient gunners were able to find the enemy with their shrapnel, the Burghers gave up the struggle and withdrew. The I.L.H. lost six troopers killed [Frances among them], and one Non-Commissioned Officer died of wounds; one officer, Major Charles Mullins, V.C., severely wounded, and thirteen Non-Commissioned Officers and men wounded, and two missing. It was not until dark that the firing completely ceased. The convoy, which had been parked, and the column at once renewed the march.'

An obelisk dedicated to the memory of the I.L.H.'s fallen was erected at nearby Neverset Farm.

Frances, who had been advanced to Corporal by the time of his death, was entitled to the Queen's South Africa Medal with clasps for 'Relief of Mafeking', 'Transvaal', 'Tugela Heights', and 'Relief of Ladysmith', and was also mentioned in Roberts' despatch dated 2 April 1901; sold with brief research.

M.C. London Gazette 1 January 1918.

Augustus George Richard Whitehouse was commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Herefordshire Regiment direct from Oxford University's O.T.C. in September 1914. Embarked for Egypt with the 1st Battalion in the following year, he landed in Gallipoli in early August 1915, and remained actively employed on the peninsula until the unit's evacuation at the year's end, in which period it particularly distinguished itself in the fighting at Azmak Dere.

Subsequently employed in Egypt and Palestine, the 1st Herefordshires were present at the battle of Rumani, the assault on Ali Muntar, and all three battles of Gaza, in addition to the actions at Beersheba and Khuweilfeh, and the advance on Jerusalem - and greatly distinguished themselves at "Drage Hill" and "Chipp Hill", named after the Battalion's C.O. and Adjutant.

Awarded the M.C. and twice mentioned in despatches (London Gazettes 13 July 1916 and 12 January 1918, refer), Whitehouse was advanced to the temporary rank of Major and embarked for France in the summer of 1918. But during the subsequent Allied advance on 1 August, he was surprised by a party of the enemy who appeared from a dugout and shot him dead. A native of Ross-on-Wye, and the son of the Rev. George Whitehouse, he was buried in Raperie British War Cemetery.

Frederick William "Freddie" Hartridge was commissioned as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Army Service Corps direct from the R.M.C. Sandhurst in March 1915. Having then witnessed active service and been advanced to Lieutenant, he was seconded to the Royal Flying Corps and qualified as a pilot.

Appointed a Flight Commander in the temporary rank of Captain in April 1917, he was posted to No. 41 Squadron in France, and flew a number of sorties in the unit's F.E. 8s that summer, a period encompassing at least two or three combats. But he was wounded and shot down by artillery fire on 19 June and, according to a family source, had to make his way across No Man's Land, bootless. Back on the Home Establishment, he was awarded his A.F.C. in respect of services as a senior instructor at No. 1 Training School.

Hartridge resigned his commission in August 1919, but remained on the R.A.F. Reserve of Officers and was an active member of the Auxiliary Air Force in the early 1930s, up until a serious flying accident in August 1933, when he was serving as a Flight Lieutenant in No. 504 Squadron - his Hawker-Horsley crashed onto a hangar and burst into flames, injuring both him and his Observer.

Recalled by the Royal Army Service Corps in the 1939-45 War, he served with the B.E.F. at the time of Dunkirk and afterwards as Welfare Officer on the trans-Atlantic run. He died in July 1972; sold with a file of research, including copied service record.

In the combat he was wounded in both legs, but notwithstanding this, he and his pilot accounted for two of the enemy.'

Gilbert Barlow, a native of Fallsworth, Manchester, was likely a founder member of No. 149 Squadron on its formation at Yapton, Sussex, in March 1918, under Major B. P. Greenwood. Extensive training having been undertaken in night flying, the Squadron was ordered to Quilen in June 1918, in order to carry out an extensive agenda of bombing raids, an aspiration much assisted by a 'flame reducer' designed by Captain C. E. S. Russell. Subsequently transferred to Alquines, and thence to Clairmarais, the unit dropped a total of 80 tons of bombs in the period leading up to the Armistice, the success of its operations being measured by a significant increase in enemy searchlights and anti-aircraft guns. Barlow's pilot, Acting Captain H. D. McLaren, was awarded a Bar to his D.F.C.

By his keenness and disregard of danger, he has set an excellent example to all ranks.'

James Turner Bunting, a native of Macclesfield, Cheshire, entered the Royal Flying Corps as a Fitter in April 1916 and first witnessed active service in Mesopotamia, where he was struck down by sandfly fever and pneumonia and evacuated to hospital in early 1917.

Advanced to Air Mechanic 1st Class in November 1917, his subsequent award of the D.F.M. was in respect of the above cited deeds in No. 63 Squadron in the Kurdistan operations of May-December 1919, one of just four such distinctions granted for services in the campaign; sold with copied service record.

The alarm was raised and the main body of the dacoits was engaged by a party of police from the Police Station. Hearing the firing, a patrol consisting of a Head Constable and two Constables, set off in the direction of the disturbance. They however unexpectedly encountered a picket put out by the dacoits. The picket fired a volley at the police patrol with the result that Foot Constable Gul Mohammed had his right knee shattered by a bullet. He fell and lay in the open whilst his two companions proceeded to climb on to the roof of a house in order to obtain a better position. The dacoits endeavoured to seize the wounded Constable's musket but in spite of his wound he kept firing as he lay and defended himself successfully. He not only saved his arms but wounded one of the dacoits. Foot Constable Gul Mohammed's conduct was most gallant. His wound was so severe that his leg had to be amputated the next day and as he lay in the open he was fully exposed to the dacoits' fire.'

K.P.M. London Gazette 1 January 1932:

'On the 13 February 1931, trans-border raiders entered the district and proceeded to rob, in broad daylight, travellers near Surozai, Badaber Police Station. Village pursuit parties kept the gang in sight until it reached a spot a few miles from Urmur where the raiders took up a position in a dry torrent bed. The villagers kept their distance and made no further attempt to capture the gang until the arrival of a small party of Police from the Unnur Additional Police Post, consisting of Assistant Sub-Inspector Tajuddin, Head Constable Nur Akbar, a second Head Constable and seven Foot Constables at about 3.15 p.m. The Sub-Inspector posted four of his Foot Constables on two small hillocks in front of the position and with Head Constable Nur Akbar, two Foot Constables and two villagers went round to the right flank, and, by making use of the protection afforded by the ground, came up in the rear of the raiders. When the party came into view about 30 yards away from the raiders, the latter opened fire severing the sling of a rifle of one of the Foot Constables. The Sub-Inspector left the remainder of the party in this position and, together with Head Constable Nur Akbar, entered the Nulla running parallel to that occupied by the raiders. They made their way cautiously down this Nulla until they were opposite the position of the raiders in the other Nulla, about 6 feet of bank separating them. One of the raiders stood up and fired into this Nulla without hitting the Sub-Inspector or the Head Constable, the latter of whom then devised a plan of hurling stones on to the raiders, who surrendered and were induced to hand over their arms consisting of four .303 rifles, 138 rounds of ammunition, and a dagger.'

INDIAN DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL, G.VI.R. (14716 Nk. (A.-Hav.) Sewa Singh, 4-7 Rajput R.), good very fine £600-800

I.D.S.M. London Gazette 18 May 1944. The original recommendation for an immediate states:

'On 23 February 1944, this N.C.O. was with 'A' Company which had succeeded in establishing itself across the main Hgakyedauk Pass Road at the Ostrich feature behind the enemy occupied point 1070 feature in the Arakan.

The dominant portion of the Ostrich feature, however still, remained in enemy hands, and prevented the sappers clearing the road. The Company made two attempts with a platoon to outflank the enemy position, both of which failed owing to the precipitous nature of the feature and the dense jungle, and the shower of grenades which greeted each assault. At about 1700 hours, as a result of further reces, a narrow path was discovered along a crest leading towards the enemy position. This path was so narrow, running along a knife edge, that if used the attack would have to be put in in single file. It was also getting close to darkness and there was no time to organise any form of fire support programme.

The Company Commander, therefore, called for volunteers to make up a strong section who were to make a last attempt without an elaborate covering fire programme, using the bayonet and grenades only. Havildar Sewa Singh immediately volunteered to command the venture and a section was made up of six men. He personally led this attack and when half way along the knife edge and L.M.G. opened up on him, and grenades were thrown. He immediately threw a grenade and yelling a war cry which was taken up by the rest of the section, dashed forward with the bayonet. The enemy, surprised and demoralised by this determined assault, fled in disorder, leaving his arms, including the L.M.G., behind. Havildar Sewa Singh, leaving a Lance-Naik to occupy the position taken, himself attempted to pursue the enemy down the precipitous slope throwing grenades and certainly killing one of them.

Had not Havildar Sewa Singh acted in this gallant manner, the start of clearing that part of the position might have been considerably delayed owing to the necessity of further operations to clear the feature which, in turn, might have been reinforced by he enemy during the night.'

Sewa Singh was from the village of Karal Majri in Narain Ganj in Ambala.

Burma Gallantry Medal London Gazette 22 June 1944:

'In recognition of gallant and distinguished services in Burma and on the Eastern Frontier of India.'

M.I.D. London Gazette 28 October 1942.

Maji Tu originally enlisted in the 70th Kachin Rifles in May 1921, his discharge certificate listing his subsequent honours & awards thus: 'Malabar Rebellion; Burma Rebellion; Coronation; mention in despatches; meritorious certificate; Burma Gallantry Medal; Order of Burma; 1939-45 Star; Burma Star; Defence Medal; mention in despatches 1941-42.' An Hon. Lieutenant at the time of taking his discharge from the 2nd Burma Rifles in May 1947, he next joined the 5th Kachin Rifles as a Captain and was killed in action at Kyaukpadaung on 25 July 1954 during fighting against the Nationalist Chinese (Kuomintang, or K.M.T.); sold with photocopies of the recipient's discharge certificate and Coronation Medal 1937 certificate.

Several articles can be found on the internet honouring the career of this great soldier but they are all written in the Kachin tongue. The following extracts have been loosely translated from one of these:

'Since the British lost Kawkarik, Japan kept on launching by dividing into two platoons. The first platoon led to Pa-an, Kayin state and the rest led to Moulmein. Japan troops who already conquered Tavoy also targeted and attacked Moulmein from every side. Moulmein village is situated on the conference of Than Lwin River at the east coast, and there is Murtaban village in the west south part. The war broke out for over one and half week. Like the waves, Japan troops were increasing a lot. That's why Moulmein village became a great battle field. As the enemies charged in come closer, the soldiers could defend just by Bayonet fighting. Although Japan entered with a big troop, only Than Lwin River left behind for British to retreat. They just wondered about Japan troop which came in their hordes even though how much they defended.

While Kachin soldiers were learning the technique of Bayonet fighting, they practiced it by saying "Butt.... Charged... throw... point.. Withdraw... on guard". Now, they started the real fight with that technique. In this Moulmein war, over hundreds of Kachin soldiers were involved. In this group, Subadar Maji Tu was also involved. Thousands of soldiers were also involved in other parts of war. Gurkha soldiers were also fighting at their best even though they looked different by the color of eyes and skin...

Apart from Beyonet fighting, some defended by fists and even with their teeth. Some also fought by their long sword. These all were because they were being charging and much closer much with the enemy. Even though the British were defending their best as they did not have any space to move back. Similarly, Japan also kept on charging and attacking even though they lost a lot of soldiers. There were filled with blood, corpses and soldiers who got injuries along Moulmein village and Than Lwin River side. Both troops lost many soldiers. There were lots of different noises, the smoke of burning, lots of corpses, lots of soldiers who got injuries and so much blood had been shed.

The last option and hope to escape for British was the ship which was waiting at the coast. The more they moved back, the more Japan charged them closely. In that situation, British troops tried to take the wounded soldiers back to the ship. If there was no one to shoot back, the British troops and the ship will be sunk in Than Lwin River. With no time to think for many things, without waiting for the order; while friends were moving back to the ship, a brave Sub. Maji Tu took the gun and fight back with Japan troops alone. Since the most important thing was to save lot of lives, he decided to sacrifice himself.

It was full with smoke due to the Japan attack. All the friends were already on the ship. At the shore line, Sub. Maji Tu alone kept on shooting and fighting by holding five or six guns. Under the rain of bullets, the ship already left from the shore. The friends salute Sub. Maji Tu for the last time from the ship. Sub. Maji Tu tried to fight against alone in order Japan not to attack the ship

After the ship had gone far from the shore line, Sub. Maji took only one gun, moving back by kept on shooting. His muscles and blood were hot like a fire, and sweats were also all over his body. That place is the confluence of Than Lwin River but it's the starting point of sea, and it is about five miles in wide. As there was no space left for him to move back, he knelt down beside Than Lwin River, "Oh Lord, I give my life and my soul to you today! Help us to have a good warrior in the future generation of Kachin People who can protect the heritage and country and to take the duty that I left undone."

After his pray, he jumped down to a big deep confluence of Than Lwin River which is the starting point of the sea...

Sub. Maji Tu was grown up in Kachin mountain that's why he did not know how to swim. Even if he knew how to swim, how could he swim in such a huge deep river! In 1921, he started to perform his duty. At that time, he was 41 years old. Now, time and day were meaningless for Sub.Maji Tu who jumped down into the deep sea. No need to remember the date for him anymore, too. In fact, it was 30th January 1942 when Sub.Maji Tu jumped to Than Lwin River. Japan troop consoled in shooting with their machine gun as well as big armament to the British ship which was escaped due to Sub.Maji Tu's protection. That was the day that Moulmein village was occupied by Japan, too.

The British soldiers which escaped by the ship felt sorry for Sub. Maji Tu, left in a deep Than Lwin River. Especially for Kachin people, as this is their parts of blood, they were sad with full of tears. Some endured stoically to control their mind. They remembered and gave a respect that, he alone kept on fighting against and scarified his life in order to save lots of their lives. When the Japan shot the cannon ball, it troubled the water and also the ship. It was very frightening. They thought that Sub.Maji Tu was killed in a cruel, severe and unkindly way. When they reached the other side, they gave a salute to Sub.Maji Tu from the ship and climbed down to the shore.

Than Lwin River keeps on flowing for 1750 miles from Tibet Mountain where is the beginning place for the Kachin people. The speed of the river is weak in this place. It was the full moon night (i.e. 30th January), where people could easily run away from the enemies cause of the moon's light. Tides from the sea were also rising high so that he wondered if the Than Lwin River becomes stronger in the summer or if it's because the ghosts become alive. It was already three days that British troops were moving back to Than Lwin River because they lost the battle with Japan. That day was 2nd February 1942. Due to the tides, the waves were coming to cover the sands on the shore and moving back to the sea. In such kind of big waves, there was something like a corpse left on the other shore of Murtaban. That corpse was not the thing; it was the body of Sub.Maji Tu who jumped into the river last three days ago. Only God knows how he could pass such a big sea and how he could reach on that shore!

That body of Sub. Maji Tu was not a dead one; instead, he was still alive. He moved slowly. He could feel that the tides were coming to touch his leg softly. All of his hands and legs were still weak. As he was terribly weak, he was weary a lot. He tried very hard to sit down. He wondered if he was still alive. He even couldn't believe himself. He slowly cleaned the sand and mud from his ear and nose. He did not know where this place was; the place now he arrived was in the enemy area? Was it in his place? He could know that the war was still going on when he heard the sound of the booms and machine guns. He couldn't remember how many days it had been after he fought against Japan at the shore of Moulmein. Even though there was no injury on his body when he checked himself, he realized that he was saved from the sea because his body, mouth, nose, ear, eyes, head and hair were full of mud.

Sub. Maji Tu tried very hard to walk. On his body, there was nothing except his undergarment. As he was weak, he limped off. He randomly moved but God will lead him. He relied on God not to lead him to Japan troop. When he passed through the British troop unexpectedly, his friends saw him and thought it was a ghost.

"It's me. I am Sub. Maji Tu." He said like that, but they still wondered and couldn't believe it. Sub. Maji Tu took the food and medicine, and then kept on fighting against Japan in order to get a victory with the strength from God.

After the World war, though Myanmar got independence, where there were civil wars, he could still suppress with the position of Capt. Maji Tu. While he was protecting Union Myanmar in this way, our warrior leader Capt. Maji Tu passed away on 25th July 1954, in the war of attacking Myanmar communist at Kyaukpadaung village which is beside of Popa mountain, west part of Meiktila village, the middle part of Myanmar.

Even though our leader Capt. Maji Tu is not here anymore, his courage and bravery is recorded in the history and it is a pride for his generation. It should not be forgotten that Myanmar country is a country that lots of Kachin people lives have been scarified to save the country many times.'

A rare post-war G.M. awarded to Lieutenant W. J. Roberts, Federation of Malaya Police Force, for his gallantry during a terrorist ambush

£2500-3000

G.M. London Gazette 23 September 1952:

'Police Lieutenant Roberts took charge of a Division after his predecessor had been ambushed and killed by bandits.

While travelling with two companions in a jeep on the Chan Wing Estate the vehicle was halted by the explosion of a land mine and fire was opened at very close range by about twenty bandits. The occupants got out of the jeep under covering fire given by Police Lieutenant Roberts but during the ensuing fight at close quarters the two passengers were killed.

Roberts fought back single-handed with his carbine and wounded two of the bandits. He was himself wounded in the thigh but continued to fight on until his ammunition was exhausted. He then ran back under fire to an armoured vehicle which was about 300 yards down the road, rallied the Special Constables who had not been in a position to give him support, and put down fire on the bandit position. After a short fight the bandits withdrew, but during the latter action a Special Constable was wounded.

Police Lieutenant Roberts displayed outstanding courage in engaging a number of bandits single-handed and fine leadership in driving off a bandit force superior in numbers.'

The Chan Wing Estate was located at Bekok, in Segamat, Johore.

Queen's Medal for Distinguished Service Government Gazette 9 November 1956: In 'recognition of prolonged service distinguished by exceptional ability and meritorious service or for exceptional diligence and ability in the execution of their duties'. One of only 20 such awards.

Carl Eduard Richter (1904-1965) is believed to have served as a bodyguard to four Prime Ministers. As confirmed by the following incident described in Rob Marsh's Famous South African Crimes, he was certainly onetime bodyguard to Dr. Verwoerd:

'On 2 September 1958, after the death of J. G. Strijdom, Dr. Verwoerd became Prime Minister. The year 1960 was a dramatic one for South African politics and for Verwoerd personally. In January, he announced that a referendum would be called to determine the Republican Issue; the object would be a republic within the British Commonwealth. Two weeks later, Harold Macmillan, the then British Prime Minister, visited South Africa. In an address to both Houses of Parliament he made his famous 'winds of change' speech and criticised apartheid. On 21 March 1960, there was the Sharpeville massacre. Then, less than a month later, the first attempt to assassinate Dr. Verwoerd almost succeeded.

On 9 April 1960, Dr. Verwoerd opened the Union Exposition on the Witwatersrand to mark the jubilee of the Union of South Africa. Having made his opening speech, he took his seat. Shortly afterwards, a fifty-two year-old farmer, David Pratt, walked up to him and fired two shots into his face. The police later gave the following account of the incident:

'After Verwoerd had made his opening speech, a man stepped up near to the front row of seats in which the Prime Minister was sitting. Some versions are that the man drew attention to himself by calling out, 'Dr. Verwoerd'. Other onlookers did not hear the Prime Minister's name being called. A shot was fired at virtually point-blank range into Dr. Verwoerd's right cheek from a .22 automatic pistol. A second shot was fired into his right ear. Colonel G.M. Harrison, president of the Witwatersrand Agricultural Society, leapt up and knocked the pistol from the gunman's hand. After the pistol fell to the floor, Colonel Harrison, with the help of Major (Carl) Richter (the Prime Minister's personal bodyguard), civilians and another policeman overpowered the gunman and hustled him to the show grounds Police Station. The arrest was made so quickly and the removal was done so quickly that an angry section of the crowd was frustrated from assaulting the detainee. The detainee, David Pratt, was soon thereafter hurried to Marshall Square [police station].'

Within minutes of the assassination attempt, Dr. Verwoerd was rushed - still conscious - to the Pretoria Hospital. Two days later, the hospital issued a statement which described his condition as 'indeed satisfactory - further examinations were carried out today and they confirm good expectations. Dr. Verwoerd at present is restful. There is no need for any immediate operation.' The surgeons who worked on Dr. Verwoerd would later claim that his escape had been 'absolutely miraculous'. One specialist declared that the firearm used '... could not have been anything bigger than a .22 bullet without causing very much more damage.'

Other physicians agreed that if a larger calibre gun had been used, the bullet would probably have penetrated his temple bone and lodged in the brain with extremely serious consequences.

Specialist surgeons were called in to remove the bullets. At first, there was speculation that Dr. Verwoerd would lose his hearing and sense of balance, but these fears were to prove groundless. He returned to public life on 29 May, less than two months after the shooting.

David Pratt, Dr. Verwoerd's would-be assassin, appeared in the Johannesburg Magistrates' Court on 11 April. Pratt was a father of three who had suffered from epilepsy for a number of years. He was described as a 'socialite and farmer'. He was a respected member of the Witwatersrand Agricultural Society and had been close to Dr Verwoerd on a number of occasions prior to the shooting. In fact, it was later revealed that Pratt had been one of the V.I.Ps sitting next to Dr. Verwoerd during the opening of the exposition.

David Pratt, who claimed he had been shooting 'the epitome of apartheid', was eventually declared 'mentally disordered and epileptic'. On 26 September 1960, he was committed to Pretoria Central Prison to 'await indication of the Governor General's pleasure'. On 1 October 1961, he hanged himself at Bloemfontein Mental Hospital.

Dr. Verwoerd had escaped death by a hair's breadth. Six years later, he would not be so fortunate.'

 SEA GALLANTRY MEDAL, G.V.R., bronze (Harry Bell, "Glenroy" 10th February 1916) nearly extremely fine £280-320
 'The steamship Glenroy, of West Hartlepool, stranded at Les Falaises, Algeria, whilst on a voyage from Malta to Bougie and became a total loss. Immediately the vessel stranded, Mr Thomas organised a party which proceeded to the spot with ropes and lights. The rescuers descended a dangerous cliff and proceeded to a large rock near the vessel. A line was then thrown from the ship to the men on the rock, who held the rope while one by one the ship's crew passed down it on to the rock. There was a strong gale and a heavy sea, which at times submerged the rocks.' (ref. The Sea Gallantry Medal, by R. J. Scarlett).
 Mr H. Blake Thomas was awarded the Sea Gallantry Medal in Bronze and a silver cup; seven others, including Mr Harry Bell, a Turner and Mechanic, were awarded the Sea Gallantry Medal in Bronze. The medals were ordered on 18 April 1916 and sent to the Algiers Consul General.

- x 719 SEA GALLANTRY MEDAL (Foreign Services), G.V.R., silver, 'From the British Government, For Gallantry and Humanity' (O. Dingel, "Volturno" 9th October 1913) nearly extremely fine £200-250
 Awarded to Fireman O. Dingel of the S.S. Grosser Kurfürst, of Bremen, for his part in the rescue of the passengers and crew from the S.S. Volturno in the North Atlantic on 9-10 October 1913.
 The Volturno, a British steamer, chartered by the Uranium Steamship Co. of Rotterdam, and bound thence to New York, was engulfed by fire in mid-Atlantic during a heavy gale. Of the 657 on board, 521 were saved by a fleet of eleven steamers that sped to her aid. Heavy seas interfered with the launching of boats, but the difficulty was eventually overcome by the use of oil; those who perished were mostly lost in the boats. The hull of the Volturno was eventually found by a Dutch steamer and scuttled as a dangerous derelict.
 The Grosser Kurfürst, a German liner of 13,182 tons, was owned by the North German Lloyd Company and was sailing from Bremenhaven to New York. In the rescue operations, 105 passengers and crew were taken aboard the ship and landed safely in New York.
 Numerous awards were made for this famous rescue, including 78 Sea Gallantry Medals in Silver to crew members of the six British vessels. In addition, the Board of Trade also awarded 152 Silver Sea Gallantry Medals (Foreign Services) to the crews serving on foreign vessels at the rescue.

Immediately a lot is sold the buyer shall:

- give to Dix Noonan Webb his or her name and address and, if so requested, proof of identity; and
- pay to Dix Noonan Webb the 'total amount due' in pounds sterling (unless credit terms have been agreed with Dix Noonan Webb before the auction). Please note that we will not accept cash payments in excess of £5,000 (five thousand pounds) in settlement for purchases made at any one auction.

6 Dix Noonan Webb may, at its absolute discretion, agree credit terms with the buyer before an auction under which the buyer will be entitled to take possession of lots purchased up to an agreed amount in value in advance of payment by a determined future date of the 'total amount due'.

7 Any payments by a buyer to Dix Noonan Webb may be applied by Dix Noonan Webb towards any sums owing from that buyer to Dix Noonan Webb on any account whatever, without regard to any directions of the buyer, his or her agent, whether expressed or implied.

8 Collection of purchases

The ownership of the lot(s) purchased shall not pass to the buyer until he or she has made payment in full to Dix Noonan Webb of the 'total amount due' in pounds sterling.

9 (a) The buyer shall at his or her own expense take away the lot(s) purchased not later than 5 working days after the day of the auction but (unless credit terms have been agreed in accordance with Condition 7) not before payment to Dix Noonan Webb of the 'total amount due'.

(b) The buyer shall be responsible for any removal, storage and insurance charges on any lot not taken away within 5 working days after the day of the auction.

(c) The packing and handling of purchased lots by Dix Noonan Webb staff is undertaken solely as a courtesy to clients and, in the case of fragile articles, will be undertaken only at Dix Noonan Webb's discretion. In no event will Dix Noonan Webb be liable for damage to glass or frames, regardless of the cause.

10 Buyers' responsibilities for lots purchased

The buyer will be responsible for loss or damage to lots purchased from the time of collection or the expiry of 5 working days after the day of the auction, whichever is the sooner. Neither Dix Noonan Webb nor its servants or agents shall thereafter be responsible for any loss or damage of any kind, whether caused by negligence or otherwise, while any lot is in its custody or under its control.

11 Remedies for non-payment or failure to collect purchase

If any lot is not paid for in full and taken away in accordance with Conditions 6 and 10, or if there is any other breach of either of those Conditions, Dix Noonan Webb as agent of the seller shall, at its absolute discretion and without prejudice to any other rights it may have, be entitled to exercise one or more of the following rights and remedies:

(b) to rescind the sale of that or any other lots sold to the defaulting buyer at the same or any other auction.

(c) to re-sell the lot or cause it to be re-sold by public auction or private sale and the defaulting buyer shall pay to Dix Noonan Webb any resulting deficiency in the 'total amount due' (after deduction of any part payment and addition of re-sale costs) and any surplus shall belong to the seller.

(e) to charge interest at a rate not exceeding 2 percent per month on the 'total amount due' to the extent it remains unpaid for more than 5 working days after the day of the auction.

(f) to retain that or any other lot sold to the same buyer at the sale or any other auction and release it only after payment of the 'total amount due'.

(g) to reject or ignore any bids made by or on behalf of the defaulting buyer at any future auctions or obtaining a deposit before accepting any bids in future.

(h) to apply any proceeds of sale then due or at any time thereafter becoming due to the defaulting buyer towards settlement of the 'total amount due' and to exercise a lien on any property of the defaulting buyer which is in Dix Noonan Webb's possession for any purpose.

12 Liability of Dix Noonan Webb and sellers

(a) Goods auctioned are usually of some age. All goods are sold with all faults and imperfections and errors of description. Illustrations in catalogues are for identification only. Buyers should satisfy themselves prior to the sale as to the condition of each lot and should exercise and rely on their own judgement as to whether the lot accords with its description. Subject to the obligations accepted by Dix Noonan Webb under this Condition, none of the seller, Dix Noonan Webb, its servants or agents is responsible for errors of descriptions or for the genuineness or authenticity of any lot. No warranty whatever is given by Dix Noonan Webb, its servants or agents, or any seller to any buyer in respect of any lot and any express or implied conditions or warranties are hereby excluded.

(b) Any lot which proves to be a 'deliberate forgery' may be returned by the buyer to Dix Noonan Webb within 15 days of the date of the auction in the same condition in which it was at the time of the auction, accompanied by a statement of defects, the number of the lot, and the date of the auction at which it was purchased. If Dix Noonan Webb is satisfied that the item is a 'deliberate forgery' and that the buyer has and is able to transfer a good and marketable title to the lot free from any third party claims, the sale will be set aside and any amount paid in respect of the lot will be refunded, provided that the buyer shall have no rights under this Condition if:

(i) the description in the catalogue at the date of the sale was in accordance with the then generally accepted opinion of scholars and experts or fairly indicated that there was a conflict of such opinion; or

(ii) the only method of establishing at the date of publication of the catalogue that the lot was a 'deliberate forgery' was by means of scientific processes not generally accepted for use until after publication of the catalogue or a process which was unreasonably expensive or impractical.

(c) A buyer's claim under this Condition shall be limited to any amount paid in respect of the lot and shall not extend to any loss or damage suffered or expense incurred by him or her.

(d) The benefit of the Condition shall not be assignable and shall rest solely and exclusively in the buyer who, for the purpose of this condition, shall be and only be the person to whom the original invoice is made out by Dix Noonan Webb in respect of the lot sold.

Conditions mainly concerning Sellers and Consignors

13 Warranty of title and availability

The seller warrants to Dix Noonan Webb and to the buyer that he or she is the true owner of the property or is properly authorised to sell the property by the true owner and is able to transfer good and marketable title to the property free from any third party claims. The seller will indemnify Dix Noonan Webb, its servants and agents and the buyer against any loss or damage suffered by either in consequence of any breach on the part of the seller.

14 Reserves

The seller shall be entitled to place prior to the auction a reserve on any single item lot which has a minimum value of £100, being the minimum 'hammer price' at which that lot may be treated as sold. A reserve once placed by the seller shall not be changed without the consent of Dix Noonan Webb. Dix Noonan Webb may at their option sell at a 'hammer price' below the reserve but in any such cases the sale proceeds to which the seller is entitled shall be the same as they would have been had the sale been at the reserve. Where a reserve has been placed, only the auctioneer may bid on behalf of the seller.

15 Authority to deduct commission and expenses

The seller authorises Dix Noonan Webb to deduct commission at the 'stated rate' and 'expenses' from the 'hammer price' and acknowledges Dix Noonan Webb's right to retain the premium payable by the buyer.

16 Rescission of sale

If before Dix Noonan Webb remit the 'sale proceeds' to the seller, the buyer makes a claim to rescind the sale that is appropriate and Dix Noonan Webb is of the opinion that the claim is justified, Dix Noonan Webb is authorised to rescind the sale and refund to the buyer any amount paid to Dix Noonan Webb in respect of the lot.

17 Payment of sale proceeds

Dix Noonan Webb shall remit the 'sale proceeds' to the seller not later than 35 days after the auction, but if by that date Dix Noonan Webb has not received the 'total amount due' from the buyer then Dix Noonan Webb will remit the sale proceeds within five working days after the date on which the 'total amount due' is received from the buyer. If credit terms have been agreed between Dix Noonan Webb and the buyer, Dix Noonan Webb shall remit to the seller the sale proceeds not later than 35 days after the auction unless otherwise agreed by the seller.

18 If the buyer fails to pay to Dix Noonan Webb the 'total amount due' within 3 weeks after the auction, Dix Noonan Webb will endeavour to notify the seller and take the seller's instructions as to the appropriate course of action and, so far as in Dix Noonan Webb's opinion is practicable, will assist the seller to recover the 'total amount due' from the buyer. If circumstances do not permit Dix Noonan Webb to take instructions from the seller, the seller authorises Dix Noonan Webb at the seller's expense to agree special terms for payment of the 'total amount due', to remove, store and insure the lot sold, to settle claims made by or against the buyer on such terms as Dix Noonan Webb shall in its absolute discretion think fit, to take such steps as are necessary to collect monies due by the buyer to the seller and if necessary to rescind the sale and refund money to the buyer.

19 If, notwithstanding that the buyer fails to pay to Dix Noonan Webb the 'total amount due' within three weeks after the auction, Dix Noonan Webb remits the 'sale proceeds' to the seller, the ownership of the lot shall pass to Dix Noonan Webb.

20 Charges for withdrawn lots

Where a seller cancels instructions for sale, Dix Noonan Webb reserve the right to charge a fee of 15 per cent of Dix Noonan Webb's then latest estimate or middle estimate of the auction price of the property withdrawn, together with Value Added Tax thereon if the seller is resident in the European Union, and 'expenses' incurred in relation to the property.

21 Rights to photographs and illustrations

The seller gives Dix Noonan Webb full and absolute right to photograph and illustrate any lot placed in its hands for sale and to use such photographs and illustrations and any photographs and illustrations provided by the seller at any time at its absolute discretion (whether or not in connection with the auction).

22 Unsold lots

Where any lot fails to sell, Dix Noonan Webb shall notify the seller accordingly. The seller shall make arrangements either to re-offer the lot for sale or to collect the lot.

23 Dix Noonan Webb reserve the right to charge commission up to one-half of the 'stated rates' calculated on the 'bought-in price' and in addition 'expenses' in respect of any unsold lots.

General conditions and definitions

24 Dix Noonan Webb sells as agent for the seller (except where it is stated wholly or partly to own any lot as principal) and as such is not responsible for any default by seller or buyer.

25 Any representation or statement by Dix Noonan Webb, in any catalogue as to authorship, attribution, genuineness, origin, date, age, provenance, condition or estimated selling price is a statement of opinion only. 26 Whilst the interests of prospective buyers are best served by attendance at the auction, Dix Noonan Webb will, if so instructed, execute bids on their behalf. Neither Dix Noonan Webb nor its servants or agents are responsible for any neglect or default in doing so or for failing to do so.

27 Dix Noonan Webb shall have the right, at its discretion, to refuse admission to its premises or attendance at its auctions by any person.

28 Dix Noonan Webb has absolute discretion without giving any reason to refuse any bid, to divide any lot, to combine any two or more lots, to withdraw any lot from the auction and in case of dispute to put up any lot for auction again.

(b) Dix Noonan Webb declares itself to be a trustee for its relevant servants and agents of the benefit of every indemnity under these Conditions to the extent that such indemnity is expressed to be for the benefit of its servants and agents.

30 Any notice by Dix Noonan Webb to a seller, consignee, prospective bidder or buyer may be given by first class mail or airmail and if so given shall be deemed to have been duly received by the addressee 48 hours after posting.

31 These Conditions shall be governed by and construed in accordance with English law. All transactions to which these Conditions apply and all matters connected therewith shall also be governed by English law. Dix Noonan Webb hereby submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts and all other parties concerned hereby submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts.
